Rainbow Six Siege has 48 different operators to choose from, which can be a little daunting if you're starting out in the tactical team-based FPS. All of them, from the newer additions like Finka - who comes with muscle-regenerating nanomachines - to the original crew like Jager with his anti-grenade turrets, have special qualities, but there is a team that's perfect for learning the fundamentals of playing both the Attacker and Defender sides.

We also picked Operators mainly from separate special forces units, meaning they'll have the cheapest possible Renown costs for new players. They're also all Operators from the base game, so you won't have to pay real money or grind for ridiculous amounts of Renown to access them.

Check your clip, secure your armor straps, and let's meet Rainbow Six Siege's most beginner-friendly Operators - three Defenders and three Attackers you should prioritize unlocking.
